THE OSAGE INDIAN LANDS.

The Treaty Will Not be Ratified.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE'S PLATFORM.

Universal Amnesty and States Rights.

Removal of Political Disabilities.

The Freedmen's Bureau Bill Passed.

Operations of the Whisky Ring.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Washington, D. C., June 19, 1868.

The Osage Indian Treaty.

It was the intention of the Senate Indian committee yesterday to report favorably upon the Osage Indian treaty which was so severely handled in the House yesterday. One fact connected with the treaty is that the land in question is conveyed directly to Wm. Sturgis, of Chicago. To-day several Senators have said there is no chance whatever of its ratification.

Reconstructed.

The bill allowing the Secretary of the Treasury to sell the Marine Hospital at Evansville, Ind., which passed the Senate yesterday, was reconsidered to-day and sent to a Committee for examination.

Mr. Chase's Platform.

The Chief Justice's private secretary asserts that Mr. Chase will accept the nomination of the New York Convention on a platform in the following effect: Economy in public affairs, reduction of taxation, maintenance of the rights of foreign born citizens, condemnation of military usurpation for trial of persons not in the army; speedy withdrawal of military governments from the South; recognition of restored rights of the States, universal amnesty and immediate restoration to the Union of the late rebel States with constitutions acceptable to the numerical majority of each State; suffrage to be entirely under the control of the several States with a recommendation that it shall be impartial. The private Secretary has reduced this statement to writing, and the document has been circulating for the last two days among leading Democrats at Congress. They say they are given to understand that Chase is taken as a certain representative of the Chief Justice's opinions. The platform is reported to be silent on the financial question.

Political Disabilities.

It seems to be generally believed, among members of Congress, that the removal of disabilities from a large number of persons in Georgia and the Carolinas, which was debated in the House to-day, will yet be passed in some form, though part of the names may be stricken out when it comes up again. The vote for it so far seems of being the necessary two-thirds. Many of the newly elected State and county officers in those three States cannot enter upon duty till some such act has become a law. The matter comes up again on Monday, the 22d. The disabilities to-day acted in the negative.

Revenue Removal.

The counts of the District have progressed fast this week, and Saturday as the time, when they will give a free hearing in the action against the suits for a division of property offered for the appointment of the persons who occupied Mr. Lincoln and awarded Seward. The principal contest is as to the Tribune.

The Freedmen's Bureau.

The new Freedmen's Bureau bill extending the Bureau one year, with a provision that it shall be discontinued in any State as soon as election in representation in Congress takes place, the Secretary of War thereby declaring, have passed both Houses of Congress, and are now in the hands of the President for signature. It is expected he will sign it, but may allow it to become a law without his signature.

The Bank of Ohio.

The government has of 7-30 are coming in eight million dollars, daily, five on the first of each month. The Secretary of the Treasury has issued orders for the payment of matured 7-30 good, and it is understood that some of it will have to New York to-day, two millions, and the rest on the end of the month.

The Whisky Ring.

A good many careful observers believe the whisky ring have got things so arranged that the forthcoming tax bill is certain to be defeated in part, and a plan is already on foot to report with a joint resolution of a dozen of lines declaring the whisky tax to be extinguished under the existing laws.

A Sharp Sarcasm.

A letter was to the House by the leading gentlemen Chicago, stating that it costs the Government one hundred and seven thousand six hundred dollars per year to light the public buildings in the city.

Secretary McCulloch.

One of the evening papers has a dispatch dated pacific announcement that Secretary McCulloch to-day sent his resignation to the President. The Secretary himself denies the truth of the report and authorizes an unqualified contradiction. He had a long conversation with the President this afternoon about the recent financial collocutions, and it is probable that the name of one of the principal officers of the Department will be sent to the Senate for confirmation at an early day.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Washington, June 19, 1868.

Congress to Erwin M. Stanton was passed, 102 to 38.

The Senate joint resolution authorizing a change of the mail service from the horse service to the post coach service between Fort Abercrombie and Sauk Centre, Minnesota, came up. Considerable discussion took place, but it was passed that it be laid on the table. Without disposing of the motion, the House adjourned.

Washington, June 19.

CITIZENS HEWERS GRANT AND REMEMBRANCE.

Hon. Anson Burlingame called on General Grant at army headquarters this morning, and had a long interview.

HAS NOT RESIGN.

There is no foundation for the report published here this afternoon that Mr. McCulloch to-day transmitted to the President his resignation as Secretary of the Treasury.

INCREASE OF PAY.

The House Committee on Military Affairs had under consideration to-day a bill proposing to give officers of the army 33⅓ per cent. additional pay. No action was reached. The subject will be resumed next Thursday. There is little prospects of such a bill becoming a law.

Hamill Retires from the Field

Coulter Will Row Any Man in America.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Philadelphia, June 19, 10 P. M.

The excitement in the city was on the increase to-day, in anticipation that a more satisfactory contest than that of yesterday, would come off between Hamill and Coulter for the championship. Considerable dissatisfaction existed among the people here, on account of the result of yesterday's contest, and more interest was, therefore, excited in anticipation of a good race to-day. The betting ran high Coulter's friends, inspired by the fact that Coulter won a few feet ahead of Hamill when the collision occurred yesterday, felt very confident that he would win to-day and the consequence was large bets were offered on him at odds of one hundred to sixty, and even two to one, which were readily taken by the Hamill men, who were not in the least discouraged by the condition of affairs yesterday, and would of course not make even bets when they could get large odds on Coulter. A great amount of betting was done, one man losing five thousand to three thousand on Coulter.

By the time set for the race a larger crowd than the succeeding yesterday gathered along the banks of the Schuylkill to witness the contest. A few minutes after four o'clock, the positions appeared in their shells, and were hardly shoved. The colors of Hamill are blue boat, which he used in yesterday, having been bought by the latter, he appeared in the boat in which he raced Walter Brown on the Hudson, at New York. Some delay was experienced in getting the contestants in position, and at 4:37 o'clock Referee White gave the word "go," Both started off in excellent style, Hamill taking the lead as in yesterday's race. In pulling the third stroke, Coulter broke his left oar a foot and a half from the outrigger, and was compelled to stop. There was no other course open to him, so he turned the race, and went back with the good boat to the starting point.

Hamill kept on and rowed over the course, and so he rowed the starting line the same distance before he came to it. The latter very generously gave up the race to Hamill, and the latter, rowing leisurely, passed over the line. There being no objections raised to Coulter's Judges, the referee decided the Hamill won the race and was entitled to the purse and championship.

After the race the contestants returned to their respective headquarters—the champion to an hotel, Coulter to the Union House, Fairmount.

This ended the great championship race. Pittsburghers as well as all other citizens are dissatisfied with the result of last year's race, and hoped after yesterday's trial to witness a close and exciting contest to-day. It is a matter of regret that Coulter met with the accident, as it would have given great satisfaction to all parties if a good race had come off, and the question of superiority between the men settled.

Hamill, as a professional oarsman, says he has now retired from active service, and intends to never enter another contest. After the race he left for Pittsburgh, and Coulter will go home. He offered to back him for one thousand dollars against an Eastern man, but Jimmy declined the offer and said he had rowed his last race.

Coulter is perfectly satisfied with the decision of the referee, and says he only regrets he did not have a chance to get a winning race with Jimmy. Coulter denies the re-match that he intends to keep on the water, and says that he will row a race with any oarsman in America.

West of the Philadelphians left for home to-night, although a portion of them will stay over until to-morrow. Hamill and Coulter will both leave for home to-morrow.

A match was made this morning for a three mile race between John Teter, Jr., of Boston, who beat Walter Brown yesterday, and Gordon Jackson, of the Lambie Boat Club of Manchester, one of Coulter's trainers. The race was to take place at ten o'clock this morning over the same course used by Brown and Teter yesterday. The match was for five hundred dollars a side, one hundred of which was put up in the hands of James Lee, of New York, by each party as a forfeit. The remainder was to have been put up at eleven o'clock this morning. Owing to the fact that Jackson failed to secure a suitable boat he was on hand, he was compelled to forfeit the five hundred dollars up, and so the race is off.

Base Ball Match—Corner Stone Laid.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Mansfield, O., June 19, 1868.

Quite a large excursion party visited Sandusky City to-day, to witness a match game of base ball between the Bay City of Sandusky, and Independents of Mansfield. It was the first game of the season for the latter club. The game was interrupted at the close of the second inning by a storm, the score standing Independents, 28; Bay City, 5.

The corner stone of the Centenary Methodist Episcopal Church was laid in the city to-day, with appropriate ceremonies. Rev. Eddy, of Chicago, was expected to officiate, but failed to arrive on account of the injury to the railroad by the storm. Rev. J. A. Hedge took his place. The church is to be an imposing structure, and to cost thirty to forty thousand dollars.

New York Postoffice.

The report on the New York Postoffice, submitted to the House of Representatives, approves the purchase of a site in the Park as being a central location, and says that since the property is worth $2,500,000, the Government did very well in getting it for $500,000. It further declares, what has been a dispute, that the building now occupied by the Government is inadequate and inconvenient. The mail handled in 1867 averaged 90 tons or 200 bushels each day. The daily average of letters dispatched is 200,000, and the average value of each day's mails $10,000,000. In view of these facts the report reaches the sensible conclusion that a new Postoffice is needed, and that it should be a commodious, substantial and elegant building.

The political campaign opened in St. Louis last night, by the delivery of an address by Gen. Carl Schurz, before the Young Men's Republican Club, at the Mercantile Library Hall. The weather was unfavorable, but the address assembled, but not much enthusiasm was yet been aroused in political circles.

The referee in the hundred mile walking match between McCormick and Scott, at Boston, has awarded the stakes to the latter, it appearing that McCormick employed a substitute two hours in the night, which materially aided in saving the task inside of twenty-one hours.

A car load of furs, worth over $20,000, and all the way from the Red River of the North, was sent East from La Crosse (Wis.) on Thursday. The skins are to be exported to be manufactured into fine things for American ladies.

Honors to Abyssinian Expedition.

Requiem Mass for Maximilian.

Holiday.

London, June 19.—To-morrow will be universally observed as a holiday, on the occasion of the grand review of volunteers by the Queen, at Windsor.

Honors to the Abyssinian Expedition.

London, Midnight, June 19.—In the House of Lords this evening Earl Edmburg, in some remarks on the Abyssinian expedition, suggested, on account of the universal character of the service performed by the troops, that special honors be paid to them upon their return from the scene of the exploit. The Earl of Malmesbury, Lord of the Privy Seal, in reply, said that the Ministry had not yet considered the point. The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief of the Army, expressed the opinion that universal honors to members of the Abyssinian expedition would be a bad precedent. The subject was then dropped.

Libel.

The London Telegraph has been condemned in £500 for the publication of a libel.

Requiem Mass.

Paris, June 19.—A solemn requiem mass was performed here to-day in commemoration of Ex-Emperor Maximilian, it being the anniversary of his execution at Queretaro. The Ex-Empress Charlotte and General Miramon and a large number of Mexicans were present.

Another Editor Muleted.

M. Cluseret, editor of the Journal of Ist, has been condemned to two months' imprisonment in jail and a fine of 1,000 francs, for an article published in that paper.

Austria and Italy.

Vienna, June 19.—Negotiations have been opened between Austria and Italy for a commercial treaty. Count Von Wimpffen has been appointed Austrian Commissioner, and Baron Bend are about to make a visit to Prague.

Servia.

London, June 19.—It appears the announcement that Prince Milan, nephew of the late sovereign of Servia, had been proclaimed ruler of that principality, was an error. The present Sovereign says the people have agreed to leave Servia free to choose her successor. The selection of Milan is considered a certainty.

London Money Market.

London, June 19.—Consols closed active and firm at 94 for money and 94⅛ for account.

U. S. Bonds at Frankfort.

Frankfort, June 19.—Five-twenties closed at 87½.

Liverpool Market.

Liverpool, June 19.—Cotton closed active and firm at an advance of ⅛d. Sales to-day 12,000 bales, including 2,000 bales for speculation and export. Corn firm at 29s 6d. Pork 82s 6d. Lard 57s.

The Great North American Saengerfest.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

Chicago, June 19, 1868.

The city is all alive with the Saengerfest of the North American Sangerbund. Chicago has the pot on to-day for wine, Rags, bon mots, Dutchers, arches and crowds. The city is profusely festooned all over the city, and every place you meet the merry singers. The first grand concert took place last night at the Rink, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. It may be estimated that effective musical performance was given by the chorus, and every appreciated for two hours, despite the fact that the

[illegible]

A telegram from General Grant has been promulgated by General Buchanan, at New Orleans, in the form of an order, for the information and guidance of all concerned. General Grant approves General Buchanan's course, saying that civil matters elected cannot be decided until the State is admitted, and until then the State Government is provisional and entirely under control of General Buchanan, and he is not bound as to the oaths to be taken by the new officers, etc., entirely to General Buchanan's judgment, suggesting that the oath prescribed by the new constitution only should be required. Thoroughly satisfied, he hopes will permit many officers to qualify who would not otherwise do so.

There is one sovereign of Europe who affords an example of liberality and self denial, unhappily too rarely exhibited by crowned heads. The Prince of Lichtenstein, whose contingent to the forces of the old German Confederacy numbered ninety men, horse and foot, has abolished his army, thus freeing his subjects from apprehensions of armed collisions with their powerful neighbors. When quarrels of Prussia or Austria be equally magnanimous!

A new railway, to be styled the Buffalo and Southern Railway, is projected to connect Buffalo and Baltimore by a direct route, making the distance equal to that between Buffalo and Albany. The new road, by proper connections, will only require one hundred and sixty miles of new rail to be laid. The company has already purchased the Lewisburg railway engineer, Wallace, is instructed to survey the route.

Crop reports show them in good condition in Maryland, but rain is much needed in the State.

The River House at La Crescent, Minn., was burned yesterday. Total loss.

The Sixteenth Rifles left Montreal for Quebec yesterday to work on the fortifications. The Seventy-eighth Highlanders will follow in a few days. The only regiments now in Montreal are the Sixteenth and One Hundredth. The steamship Moravian arrived Thursday night with drafts for different regiments, numbering in all about 1,200 men. The weather is excessively hot, and several cases of sun stroke have occurred.

The New Orleans Republican, of to-day, will contain a proclamation by the Registration Board, modifying those previously issued, to conform to the Omnibus bill, providing that the Governor elect shall convene the Assembly after the bill becomes a law, conforming that part relating to the inauguration of civil officers to the same bill.

The case of George T. Ruby, colored member of the Texas Convention and delegate to the Chicago Convention, against the steamship Morgan, for five thousand dollars damages for refusing him admission to cabin passage on the trip from Galveston to Brazbar City, was decided yesterday by Judge Durell, of New Orleans, awarding $75 damages.

Upon learning of General Grant's indorsement of General Buchanan's action, Ex-Mayor Heath's attorney inquired if it would affect the pending writ of quo warranto against Mayor Conway. General Buchanan replied that the writ would not be allowed to take its course.

The crop prospect in Georgia is not flattering on account of dry weather. The first lot of new wheat sold at Atlanta yesterday at $2 10 per bushel.

A large quantity of military stores direct from Woolwich, England, have arrived at Toronto for the use of regulars and volunteers, also shot and shell for gunboats.

CITY MATTERS.

Fatal Accident.—A man named J. R. Hill employed at the Osceola Coal Works, was killed yesterday morning by a piece of slate falling on him. Deceased was a young man and unmarried.

An Improvement.—The United States Marshal's office in the Custom House Building has been refurnished with a beautiful Brussels carpet, and fixed up generally. Yesterday our genial friend Colonel Connell was busily engaged in seeing that everything was in order for business. The District Attorney's office has also been refitted with a new carpet.

Arraigned on Murder.—The case of the Buffalo and Pittsburg Railroad Company, vs. The Erie and Northeast Railroad Company, vs. The Erie and Cleveland Railroad Company, which was argued in the United States Circuit Court, at Philadelphia, Pa., by the United States Circuit Judges on Monday last.

Both sides were ordered to file briefs, at 4, from two to three days, and from fifty to sixty days, from the date of the order, which was made on Monday last.

City Mortuary Report.

Dr. A. G. Metcalfe, Physician of the Board of Health, reports the following deaths and births to the consolidated city for the week ending June 13th, 1868:

Adults—Consumption, 8; apoplexy, 2; intemperance, 1; pneumonia, 2; cholera, 1; peritonitis, 1; typhoid fever, 1; scarlet fever, 1; cancer, 1; congestion of the brain, 1; cerebro spinal meningitis, 1; inflammation of the brain, 1; inflammation of the lungs, 1; whooping cough, 1; total, 26.

The Daily Commercial

ESTABLISHED JUNE 10, 1846.

The Commercial is the largest daily paper in the State, and circulates more than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Democratic paper in the city that receives the telegraphic dispatches, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

In point of its editorial, general and market reports of the Commercial, we will state that we are regularly copied by the New York Economist, Shipping List, Iron Age, and other papers of like character in the United States, and that leading English commercial papers and advocates regularly republish them each week. There is within the limits of the Commercial, probably, more matter of a reliable character, and more general information than in any other daily paper published in the State.

Here on the old banks of the party dropped Mr. Chase, Andrew Johnson turned in for him. Of course he drops Johnson, for whom he has been long enough to thoroughly kill him off. Mr. Johnson, not having yet been in favor of any one who has won, his open declaration for Mr. Chase may safely be set down as the one sign that he has no chance.

It cannot but be noted that the leader of a Colonel appointment has been made to Mr. Jesse W. Garnsey, President of the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, and by him declined, to expend. The commencement are that his connection with important commercial railway enterprises will not permit him to undertake any other than those duties. Inasmuch as Mr. Garnsey is relied on to see the Connellsville Rail road through, we are glad he has declined. But when will the Road be built?

Parties advices from New York and Washington represent that the muddle among the Democrats about a candidate grows more ugly. The defection of the World from Chase, and its equally hostile attitude toward Pendleton, leaves that paper completely at sixes and sevens. The suspicion that the power behind the throne in the World is Governor Seymour is believed to be correct, and the feeling that it is likely to have both is confirmed up by a leading War Democrat, who only a few days ago declared that the chiefs for candidate "were as intelligent a confusion of Cicero's strength, and that it would take but little to drive Democrats by the thousand over to us." For himself, he said, after what had happened, he was prepared to give him his support.

While the Democratic Convention in New York on the 4th of next month is active that the leads should be put in greenbacks, we hope they will not forget to ring in what the greenback stands for gold. The American people are not so stupid as not to understand that paper money is good for nothing without it be going to be redeemed. If every dollar of greenbacks does not represent a dollar in gold, what is the greenback worth? The proposition is to set the printing press at work grinding out greenbacks. It is a stupid man who does not understand that the more you have of them the less they are worth.

We hope the Convention will not fail to ring how the unlimited batch of greenbacks it proposes to issue is going to be redeemed.

Any one who reads exclusively the Philadelphia Post and other Pennsylvania organs must be led to suppose that about everything valuable in this world is concerned in the question, whether the ten-twenty bonds shall be paid in coin or greenbacks. With them that question transcends all others, and involves the public faith completely. The World takes another view of the matter and looks the question out of the theater of discussion. It says:

> The payment of our ten-twenty bonds does not involve the question of the payment of the national debt. It is only a question of the payment of a portion of the debt, and that portion the smallest. The debt is not due, and will not be due for many years. The ten-twenty bonds are due in 1880, and the holders of them have the option of demanding payment in 1875. Whether they will demand payment or not depends entirely upon the question whether they can get a better investment for their money. If they can get a better investment they will demand payment, and the Government will be compelled to pay them. If they cannot get a better investment they will not demand payment, and the Government will not be compelled to pay them. The question of paying the ten-twenty bonds is therefore entirely a question of time, and not a question of principle. The Government is not bound to pay them now, and it is not bound to pay them at any particular time. It is only bound to pay them when the holders demand payment, and they will not demand payment so long as they can get a better investment for their money.

It is evident that the branch of the party to which the World belongs—the branch that is going to win in the end—do not intend to be roped into the Pittsburgh notice where a bushel of greenbacks will be about equal to a bushel of turnips. Hereby, we believe, doth those enough on the head of the Union movement to kill it off, the paper has turned its attention to Pittsburgh, and attacks us only thus.

"A THIEVING COMMISSION."

The House of Representatives deserves the thanks of the nation for their prompt and decisive action in regard to the pernicious Ouray Treaty. The treaty was only entered into on the 25th of May, so that no time has been lost in nullifying and condemning it. The commissioners who made the treaty are D. C. Taylor, Thomas Bowyer, A. G. Boone and Wm. Bent, no doubt for the Indians, and Mr. Taylor, in his speech, denominated the Commissioners on the one hand "the devil and all," on the appointment of the President, and "the devil and hell," which would not displease the senator, on those who took the opposite side. If his side represented the flag of his nation, officers would not "wear the flag" "who the devil are you?" The rolls would settle the business, and give Americans the privilege of being interlocutor at Court. And why they should not go to Court is more than we can at present see. They should, as occasion or a free nation, go where they please. "as is going we do not exactly see that we have the right to stay" "we will go how we please." The leaders of the court has a right, though it may be a rule of interpretation, to say how guests shall appear. Courts have not yet grown so simple as the morning call of Mrs. Jones on Mrs. Brown. If we want our Envoy to go to court, we must, therefore, give him a distinctive dress, whereby his character may be known and there be no more departure in the from Republican simplicity than is the different peculiar usage and laws of the various grades of officers.

The leading men of the nation should get up this matter arranged. There may be in which point in our determination for a first from Republican simplicity,

THE GREAT EARTHQUAKES.

Visit to the Volcanic of Atlantis.

Peculiar Nature of the Scene as Observed—The Center of the Disturbance Off the Azores—The Land Sometimes Not Visible.

A letter from a resident of Hamilton describes the scene as that place:

At Hamilton in the greatest state of excitement. All are panic stricken. Therefore, the 1st, at half a. m., we experienced the most severe earthquake I have ever known. I was coming from the balcony to my store room I heard a loud rumbling noise like a number of carts let on the cobble stones over a rough road by wild horses. From the clouds came, and I never shall forget it. The house in the garden took a right and run and stopped, the floor heaved, the cedar trees and lotus vacillated, the pigeons flew about as though some one had been living at them. The shock lasted a good while, how long I cannot say, for I was enough to make me feel sea-sick, and it was with difficulty that I could stand. On reaching the store such a sight met such a smell as I could not. All the bottles of gin, wine, preserves, spirits, etc., were on the floor broken. The contents of the cask from one division were mixed with those of the other. All the glass ware was smashed to atoms. Boxes of tobacco and cigars were all over the house in a heap. All the cases were down on the floor. Mr. Reed's new building was injured, but the conditions is fortunate, some of the large pieces of coral are split. The one recently added came in on their perhaps more, and after a time [illegible] one piece, so that we [illegible] high. Since then, the 3d, we have had [illegible] Thursday night, the earth was moving, constantly like a person breathing, and only once in a while it would give a jerk. Nothing is in standing order now whatever. We fancy we all are out of doors, afraid to stay in the house. As I write it is shaking, and occasionally I wait for it to subside or resume my writing. Rodrigues is [illegible] terrible. He says the sea came in and completely inundated every house in the place, and carried off some 300 lives of gain the sum and everything. He declares the shock is more terrible than we had it here.

The latest news from Atlantis.

Hamilton, who has just had a visit on the great crater, thus describes its appearance:

The ground around the crater, particularly on the north is most entirely rent, in fact it is a mass of fragments of broken rock. On the East road there does appear to be wide and deep crevices, which run parallel to and more than [illegible] the East road, as we came along we saw [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and
